

Data processing week 2 questions

Xander Locsin
10722432

November 10, 2017

1 Questions

"==" Is for comparison of values. "===" Does the same but without automatic type conversion.

Closure means being able to refer to local variable within a function. Even after the function has been called.

A higher order function is a function that works with other functions. These functions rely on other functions to work.

A query selector is used to refer to specific DOM elements. The method returns the first matching element it finds.